

Sup all! I am officially in business with WEEECYCLE. I am excited to bring a brand to the cycling industry. Weecycle is bigger than me for sure. I am pretty psyched about being a part of Weecycle as a cycling enthusiast.

What is this brand? Well, it can mean several things either way you look at it. Let's open up the hood of weecycle.

1. Weecycle - weeeeeee! This denotes fun and when going on a descent on a bike, you may just go whoooooah or like me, I go weeeeeee! Going fast is what I like but I also like to say that cycling is fun. If it isn't fun, then why do according to 2024 there had been 112 million people riding a bike in the United States alone. This doesn't include our European friends.

4. Weecycle - Recycling the Fun. The tagline of this effort is exactly what it is. Recycling the fun is basically taking a bike you have had in your garage and reclaiming it's fun when it was first bought to do what? Have FUN!! I want to reclaim an old bike then purchase a brand new bike again to replace the poor old bike that will end up being parted out and then eventually, thrown away into the bin.

7. Weecycle - share the Fun. I am an introvert and like to ride alone but there isn't anything close to riding in a group ride. When riding in a group ride, weeeeeee go to coffee shops, share a beautiful waterfall, or place of interest together. Your mate can draft for a while behind you and then switch. It makes a long ride so much more fun.

Weeeeeee hope you can join us as we grow together. The goal for this effort is to have fun together with group ride setups in Lexington or even on indoor sites like Zwift, Rouvy and other online sites. Weeeeeee hope that you would allow us to build up your dream bike. The Dream bike may very well be in your garage and we can upgrade and have a proper bike. I have taken a $288.00 bike and made it a proper Gravel bike. I hope that a community called Weecycle actually does develop and we can encourage, uplift and share our journeys of cycling together.

At the end of the day, the goal for this is to give you content that will bring good will to you and your cycling. We want to bring Fun back to cycling for you.
